BREAD AND BUTTER.

The girl engaged in moulding bread
Shall make some sweetheart flutter,
With hope to get that dairy maid
To make his bread and butter.

She may not play the game croquet,
Or French and German stutter,
If well she knows the curd from whey,
And makes sweet bread and butter.

In meal or cream she's elbow deep,
And cannot stop to putter,
But says if he will sow and reap
She'll make his bread and butter.

The dairy maid, the farmer's wife,
Shall be the toast we utter;
Alone, man leads a crusty life,
Without good bread and butter.

Wit, Humor and Wisdom.

A DOUBT EXPRESSED.—One Sabbath afternoon, a Sunday school teacher observed two boys playing at marbles by the roadside. He stopped, told them how wicked it was, and succeeded in persuading the worst one to accompany him to school. The lad was decidedly a fast youth, of about eight years. In the class, among other things, the teacher told him that "God made this beautiful world and all that was in it; we must thank him for the good things we enjoy. He gives us food and our clothes."

"Does he give me my clothes, too?" asked the lad.

"Yes: he gives us everything."

"Now, that's where you get your eyes shut up; for mam made these trowsers out of dad's old ones."

A RAW Irishman, just over, went into a restaurant, and was asked by the waiter what he would have? "Why, wittles to ate, uv coorse," was the reply. A plate of hash was placed before him. "Fot's that?" demanded Mickey. "That's wittles," was the answer. Mickey eyed the compound suspiciously for some time, and finally exclaimed —"Be jabers, the man that chew'd that can ate it!"

As a newly married couple from down East were one night lying in bed, talking over "matters and things," a heavy thunder storm arose. The loud peals of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning filled them with terror and fearful apprehensions. Suddenly a tremendous crash caused the loving couple to start as though they had received an electric shock. Jonathan, throwing his arms around his dear, exclaimed—"Hug up to me, 'Liz, let's die like men!"

A YOUNG Irish girl going from Albany to New York to a situation lost her written recommendation on the steamer St. John, and on arriving in New York was much troubled about it. Having an old friend in the city that knew her trouble he agreed to help her. The following is a copy of his certificate:—

"This is to certify that Bridget Mahony had a good character when she left Albany, but lost it on the steamboat coming down.

"DENNIS O'TOOLD."

A CERTAIN Judge, who was notorious for carrying the precise and formal habits of the bench into private life, was one day entertaining some friends at his table, and asked a magistrate who was present if he would take some venison. "Thank you, my lord," was the reply, "I am going to take some boiled chicken." "That, sir," testily answered the judge, "is no answer to my question. I ask you again if you will take some venison, sir, and I will trouble you to say yes or no without further prevarication."

GOOD COOKING NOT INCONSISTENT WITH PIETY.—I've nothin' to say agin' her piety, my dear; but I know very well I shouldn't like her to cook my victuals. When a man comes in hungry an' tired, piety won't feed him, I reckon. I called in one day when she was dishin' up Mr. Truman's dinner, an' I could see the potatoes was as watery as water. It's right enough to be sperctual—I'm no enemy to that; but I like my potatoes mealy. I don't see as anybody 'ull go to heaven the sooner, for not digestin' their dinner—providin' they don't die the sooner, as may-hap Mr. Truman will, poor dear man!—Adam Bede.

ALL FOR THE BEST.—Dr. Johnson used to say that a habit of looking at the best side of every event, is better than a thousand pounds a year. Bishop Hall quaintly remarks, "for every bad there might be a worse; and when a man breaks his leg, let him be thankful that it was not his neck." When Fenelon's library was on fire. "God be praised," he exclaimed that it is not the dwelling of some poor man!" This is the true spirit of submission—one of the most beautiful traits that can possess the human heart. Resolve to see this world on its sunny side, and you have almost won the battle of life at the outset.

A "BONE OF CONTENTION."—The other evening, as a worthy divine and a broad-thinking Doctor was discussing about the "Essays and Reviews," some doubts were raised whether Eve was formed from "a bone," when a poetical lady remarked—"Well, if Eve were so formed, it must have been from the Bone of Contention."—Court Journal.

IRISH POLITENESS.—An Irish jingle-driver, in Dublin, made a very happy and characteristic reply the other day. A gentleman had replied to Pat's "Want a jingle, sir?" by saying, "No; I am able to walk;" "May your honor long be able, but seldom willing."

THE first pair of buckskin breeches seen in the South Sea Islands were so little understood that the natives stuffed them with seaweed and had them "biled" for dinner.

The Virginia Election and its Teachings.

[From the Philadelphia Daily News, National Union.]

The late election in Virginia, as an illustration of Radical statesmanship, philanthropy and philosophy, may be regarded as a highly interesting and instructive event.

The result of this election proves that the infamous Hunnicutt is, practically, emperor of the State of Virginia. The negroes, almost unanimously, voted according to his directions, defeating several tried Union men who were opposed by crazy and malignant Radical candidates, generally fresh from the North, who had gone to that State to gain political eminence at the hands of the negroes. The returns so far indicate the election of thirty Conservatives and sixty Radicals, eighteen or twenty of the latter being negroes. Frauds of the most flagrant description were committed. The negroes had been registered under whatever names they chose to adopt at that time, and if "John Smith" or "Geo. Washington" was not at the polls, some other negro, who had come into the State or country since the registration, was substituted, and "put through" the voting process. The Richmond Whig, (a Republican reconstruction paper) says "the negroes came from every quarter" to that city and voted. The same paper says that "Conservative whites and blacks would have been compelled to fight for their lives had it not been for the military;" and the telegraph informs us that "two citizens of Richmond have been ordered by a vigilance committee of colored people, to leave the city within forty-eight hours," because they opposed the Radical ticket. Some of the few negroes who voted the Conservative ticket were set upon by the Radical negroes, and would have been murdered but for the interference of the military.

This election, the Richmond Whig says, "shows with painful distinctness that the negroes have drawn a deep red blood line between themselves and the whites, and that with them principles are nothing, color everything," and they "have left us no choice but to regard them henceforward as enemies." The Charlottesville Chronicle says "every conceivable effort has been made here to harmonize the two races. Every form of overture has been made by the whites to the blacks. All has been in vain. Drilled like an army, manœuvred like a body of disciplined troops, obeying an order from the central league, like a sign from a marshal's baton, the negroes have delivered their votes like a concentrated broadside."

The Lynchburg Virginian says "the events of yesterday determined the relations that will hereafter exist between the superior and inferior races inhabiting Virginia. The black people, who were born on our soil and have lived with us upon terms of unity and good will to that day, deliberately made their own choice, and thereby pronounced their own doom. They have set themselves in array against their old friends, and henceforth there will be but two parties here—a white man's party and a black man's party. We regret this, but it cannot be otherwise." The same paper advises white men to employ and patronize white men in business exclusively, leaving the negroes to look to Hunnicutt and the few other white vagabonds and reprobates whose only object in cajoling the colored people is to secure their support for office. It adds, "The vote of yesterday must produce lasting alienation between the races in Virginia, and the attrition that it will provoke must wear out the weaker." The Lynchburg News says "We write this with the conviction firmly fixed in our mind that the colored race is doomed.

* * The negroes of this city have preferred the counsel of vicious and malignant Radical emissaries to that of intelligent and respectable gentlemen." This paper advises that "arrangements be instantly made to substitute other labor for that which has been so faithless and so dangerous."

These few extracts show what is only the natural result of the sucessful Radical efforts to array one race against the other in the South. It must lead to an enmity between the races that will prove destructive of the best interests of the black man. If the contest between the whites and blacks must come (according to the apparent purpose of the Radical politicians), it is not difficult to foresee how it will end. The black man must go to the wall. The government will not always be used as a machine set up for the special protection of the negro, and bureaus and enactments to feed and clothe him, and encourage him in habits of idleness, while flattering him with the idea that he is a superior being, will not exist forever. The time must come, and come soon, when the negro, like a white man, will be thrown upon his own resources and responsibility, and, if meanwhile the negroes so act as to excite and incur the hatred of the whites, the latter will assert their natural superiority, and the former must go down. The Anglo Saxon race cannot be kept in any sort of subservience to any inferior race. It must and will be on top. It will assert its superiority in the halls of legislation, in commerce, in agriculture, and, if need be, in arms; and if a contest must come between the whites and blacks in any part of our country, the great mass of the whites will forget the mere political differences of the past, and unite, from the natural instincts of blood and brotherly sympathy, against the barbaric race and the few white traitors to their own race and blood who may dare to identify themselves with it.

Persevere through every difficulty.

Reflect and Act.

[From the Pittsburg Republic.]

The time has at length arrived when the organization for the contest for the Presidency and the control of the National Government for four years more must be perfected. The issues and the form of organization are of the utmost importance. The Radicals cannot succeed in their schemes except by a virtual revolution, which can only be attained through divisions and a lack of unity of purpose on the part of their opponents.

The great obstacle to such a union is the selfishness of individuals, the pride of party, and the obstinacy and prejudice of party leaders. Of this we need not cite instances in the Radical party, for the country has no hope excepting in their complete overthrow. Relief must come from the people themselves; men known as Republicans and as Democrats must unite, regardless of party ties and obligations.

The temporary success which has been attained by the Democrats through the aid of the Conservatives, by no means argues that we can succeed solely through that organization; on the contrary, the reverse of this opinion is the only legitimate conclusion which can be drawn from the elections and the present status, and it is only when the people become thoroughly aroused to the truth of this position that we can hope to achieve success. We must reflect that the National Legislature and a great majority of the Northern States are still in the hands of the Radicals—that the recent elections thus far have decided adversely to Radical excesses, without placing entire confidence in the Democrats—that the elections would have been determined differently but for the support of the Conservative element. The Democrats demand that all Conservatives and Republicans must, if they desire the overthrow of the Radicals, come over to their organization and submit to the dictation of their leaders. This extraordinary assumption of superiority is based upon the name and organization of the party. They do not reflect that the sun of that party, as a National organization, went down at Charleston, in 1860, and it has not since arisen, and there is yet no evidence that it is ever destined to rise. There is now no organization known as the Democratic party in the Southern States, lately in rebellion—the majority of the blacks and a few mean whites are Radicals, and the rest are Conservatives. Kentucky is the only Southern State where a distinctive Democratic organization exists at the present time; so, that the Democratic party has really no claim as a great National organization. There are reasons, which we do not design to discuss now, why the Democratic party cannot be resuscitated at the South, with any prospect for making it the dominant party. We are now dealing with these questions upon their immediate practical bearing. There is little prospect that in this view, sufficient, even of moderate Republicans can be found who will be willing to abandon the Radicals and trust themselves to the tender mercies of the leaders of the Democratic party. The course of the latter towards those who have heretofore left the Republican ranks has not been a very encouraging character. What then remains? what policy should be pursued which will be likely to harmonize and unite these apparently incongruous elements?

The Republican or Radical anti-Democratic element in Congress is so great, that it would be folly to demand or expect that in the present political condition of things a sufficient number would go over to the Democratic side to give them a preponderance; it would not be unnatural nor impracticable on the other hand for the Conservative element in the Republican party to cast loose from the Radicals and offer a programme upon which Democrats could unite, forming a basis for political organization distinct from either of the political parties as they now exist. Such a policy seems so obvious and natural that we expect to see it prevail; we could indicate those who might be expected to take the lead in such a movement, but inasmuch as relief frequently comes from a direction least expected, we forbear to embarrass the question with such speculations. Such a party must be national; it must leave the South to reorganize upon the basis of the Constitution; it must remove all encumbrances from the statute books which interfere with and obstruct the Executive functions or legitimate State rights; it must legislate for our financial and commercial interests upon broad and liberal grounds; it must present some plan for the payment of our national indebtedness, and which will relieve us from the burdens of taxation. Such a party will receive enthusiastic support from the people, no matter by what name it is called.

We have every respect for the principles of the Democratic party, although its principles are very poorly understood or acted upon by some of its leaders. We consider success under its present organization perfectly impracticable, although we have upheld and sustained its resistance to the Radicals. There are many good men in the Republican party who are patriotically disposed, who would abandon the Radicals joyfully, but who are unwilling to unite with and be controlled by the Democratic party. Careful, thoughtful and candid men should reflect upon these facts, give them due weight, and act accordingly.

☞A boy's idea of having a tooth drawn may be summed up as follows: "The doctor hitched fast on me, pulled his best, and just before it killed me the tooth came out."

SOLID merit is a cure for ambition.

Concerning Man.

The N. Y. Christian Intelligencer publishes the following interesting and instructive digest of the human organization:

Wonders at home, by familiarity, cease to excite astonishment; but thence it happens that many know but little about the "house we live in," the human body. We look upon a man as we look upon a house from the outside, just as a whole or unit, never thinking of the many rooms, the curious passages, and the ingenious internal arrangements of the house, or of the wonderful structure of the man; the harmony and adaptation of all his parts.

In the human skeleton about the time of maturity are 165 bones.

The muscles are about 500 in number

The length of the alimentary canal is about 32 feet.

The amount of blood in an adult is nearly 30 pounds, or full one fifth of the entire weight.

The heart is six inches in length and four inches in diameter, and beats 70 times per minute, 4,200 times per hour, 100,800 times per day, 36,772,000 times per year, 2,565,440,000 in three-score and ten, and at each beat two and a half ounces of blood are thrown out of it, one hundred and seventy-five ounces per minute, six hundred and fifty-six pounds per hour, seven and three fourths tons per day. All the blood in the body passes through the heart every three minutes. This little organ by its ceaseless industry, lifts the enormous weight of 350,700,200 tons.

In the allotted span,

The Psalmist gave to man,

The lungs will contain about one gallon of air at their usual degree of inflation. We breathe on an average 1,200 times per hour, inhale 600 gallons of air, or 14,400 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of the lungs exceeds 20,000 square inches, an area very nearly equal to the floor of a room twelve feet square.

The average weight of the brain of the adult male is three pounds and eight ounces; of a female, two pounds and four ounces. The nerves are all connected with it, directly or through the spinal marrow. These nerves, together with their branches and minute ramifications, probably exceed 10,000,000 in number, forming a "body-guard" outnumbering by far the mightiest army ever marshaled!

The skin is composed of three layers and varies from one fourth to one eighth of an inch in thickness. Its average area in an adult is estimated to be 2,000 square inches. The atmospheric pressure being about 14 pounds to the square inch, a person of medium size is subjected to a pressure of 10,000 pounds! Pretty tight hug.

Every square inch of skin contains 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores, each of which may be likened to a little drain-tile one fourth of an inch long, making an aggregate length over the entire surface of the body of 201,166 feet, or a tile ditch for draining the body almost forty miles long.

Man is made marvelously. Who is eager to investigate the curious, to witness the wonderful works of Omnipotent Wisdom, let him not wander the wide world round to seek them, but examine himself. "The proper study of mankind is man."

DRUNKARDS IN ENGLAND.—The London Cosmopolitan says: Two-thirds of the crimes and more than half of the follies of the world are committed under the influence of intoxication. And yet men will continue to "put an enemy into their mouths to steal away their brains!" Among the lower classes in London there is more out-door drunkenness than we have ever seen in any other city. Nothing is more disgusting to the eye, to the nose, or to the moral sense than one of these drivelling, staggering street and bar-room drunkards. "If a man will play the fool, let him do it in his own house," says Shakspeare; and, to repeat the advice, we say, if men will get drunk, let them shut themselves up for it.—Here is a stanza we learnt in childhood; let all who find dram-drinking their easily-besetting sin engrave it as an amulet on their hearts:

Oh, whisky, thou'rt the greatest curse
To soul, to body, and to purse;
Pandora's box held nothing worse
Than whisky.

[There are in England to-day 600,000 drunkards! Every year, for more than twenty years past, more than 60,000 drunkards die in England. Who can estimate the crime, poverty, ignorance, and misery following in the train of this tide of drunkenness!]

☞An anecdote is told of Velpau, the eminent French surgeon, who died a few years ago. He had successfully performed, on a little child five years old, a most perilous operation. The mother came to him and said: "Monsieur, my son is saved, and I really know not how to express my gratitude; allow me, however, to present you with this pocketbook, embroidered by my own hands." "Oh! madam," replied Velpau, sharply, "My art is not merely a question of feeling. My life has its requirements, like yours. Dress even, which is a luxury for you, is necessary for me. Allow me, therefore, to refuse your charming little present, in exchange for a more substantial remuneration." "But, Monsieur, what remuneration do you desire? Fix the fee yourself." "Five thousand francs, madam." The lady quietly opened the pocketbook, which contained ten thousand franc notes, counted out five, and after politely handing them over to Velpau, retired.

☞Fair invalid—"Lor', Jane, I do feel that bad! Do, please, make me a tumbler o'brandy-and-water, as hot and strong as you can—and—just make me take it whether I will or no!"

A National Thanksgiving.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

In conformity with a recent custom that may now be regarded as established on national consent and approval, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby recommend to my fellow-citizens, that next, be set apart and observed throughout the republic as a day of National Thanksgiving and praise to the Almighty Ruler of nations, with whom are dominion and power, and who maketh peace in his high places. Resting and refraining from secular labors on that day, let us reverently and devoutly give thanks to our heavenly Father for the mercies and blessings with which He has crowned the now closing year. Especially let us remember that He has covered our land with greatly needed and very abundant harvests; that He has caused industry to prosper, not only in our fields, but also in our workshops, in our mines, and in our forests. He has permitted us to multiply ships upon our lakes and rivers, and upon the high seas, and at the same time to extend our iron roads so far into the secluded places of the continent, and to guarantee speedy overland intercourse between the two oceans. He has inclined our hearts to turn away from domestic contentions and commotions, consequent upon a distracting and desolating civil war, and to walk more and more in the ancient ways of loyalty, conciliation, and brotherly love. He has blessed the peaceful efforts with which we have established new and important commercial treaties with foreign nations, while we have at the same time strengthened our national defenses, and greatly enlarged our national borders.

Thursday, the 28th day of November,

While thus rendering the unanimous and heartfelt tribute of national praise and thanksgiving, which is so justly due to Almighty God, let us not fail to implore Him that the same divine protection and care which we have hitherto so undeservedly and yet so constantly enjoyed, may be continued to our country and our people throughout all their generations forever.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the 26th day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1867, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-second.

ANDREW JOHNSON.
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

☞A teacher of vocal music undertook the other day to "beat the time" made by Flora Temple, and miserably failed.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Nov. 6, 1867.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

☞The Richmond Whig says, "Hunnicutt's recent success in obtaining the negro vote will make him a candidate for the presidency." A friend at our elbow suggests that Brownlow should be placed on the same ticket for Vice President.

☞The following are the results of the late "elections" for constitutional delegates in the Southern States: Alabama, Radicals—16 negroes and 80 whites; Conservatives, 4 whites. Louisiana, Radicals—40 negroes and 56 whites; Conservatives, 2 whites. Virginia, Radicals—25 negroes and 43 whites; Conservatives, 37 whites.

☞It is said in Washington that a new bill has been prepared providing for negro political equality in all of the States by act of Congress, which will be introduced on the first day of the session on the 21st of this month. If Congress should pass such a bill, even the nomination of Gen. Grant by the Republican party will not save it from defeat next fall.

☞The contest is very warm just now, in the Republican party, between the friends of Chase and Grant. The election in New York to-day will strengthen one or the other. If the election goes against the Republicans Grant stock will go up, but if the Republicans should carry or even hold their own in that State, Chase, being in possession of the working machinery of the party, will run Grant completely off the track in the race for the Republican nomination.

☞A Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer states that a movement will soon be inaugurated by the friends of Chief Justice Chase to bring him prominently before the country as a Presidential candidate. Leading Northern politicians have been in consultation with him for several days past, and it is intimated that one of the prominent Republican papers of New York city will soon hoist his standard and squarely advocate his claims against all other candidates.

☞The Journal & American editors are worried because Republicans see proper to be subscribers to the Globe. We are gratified to know that the most intelligent men, and best Republicans in the county, are our patrons. They are a kind of men who read and think for themselves, and are not influenced by the commands of such would-be leaders as our neighbors of the Journal & American. But a few short years ago the proprietor of that paper said Republicans were only fit to associate with negroes—he should not now complain if they see proper to associate with us.

☞There are those strict partisans in the North who think there is no such thing as a "Conservative" party. With them we beg leave to differ. The vote in the recent elections is an evidence that there is, and the votes of those white men in the South who are entitled to vote, shows the same thing. The Radicals can't claim the Conservative element for its bad policy in the present, nor can the Democrats claim their votes for its bad policy in the past. The Conservative vote is one that chooses between two evils, while at the same time it is not bound to support either. It is waiting and striving for the time when it can assert itself and bring order out of chaos.

☞The total white vote of the South is against the Radicals, and what has effected the result is their opposition to negro voting. They expressed their opposition to this policy of the Radicals in the beginning, but the Radicals in Congress forced it upon them. Now, in that section there is a white man's conservative party, and a black man's Radical party. Thinking men see how two parties so diametrically and naturally opposed to each other will end; and if the Radicals expect to make their policy a permanent one, with the whole white vote in the South against them, we think they will be seriously mistaken. One thing is certain, they can never reconstruct the South, when a majority of its people are opposed to them, and have to be controlled by the military and fraud.

☞A man named Weston is to walk from Portland, Maine, to Chicago, in thirty consecutive days, exclusive of Sundays, for a stake of $10,000. During some one day he must walk 100 miles, or lose six-tenths of the stake. He is a lithe, good-looking man, 25 years old, and weighs 125 pounds. His average walking must be 50 miles a day. He reached Boston in good time, and left in good condition. A despatch from Plainfield, Conn., says:—"Weston is in the best of spirits. He will leave at 12½ o'clock on Monday morning for Hartford, and from there or New Britain will start on his second trial of the 100 miles.

☞Some few of our subscribers have got too far behind on our books. They must pay up soon or we will be compelled to stop their paper and place bills in other hands for collection. Court week will be a good time to square up.

Trouble in the Republican Camp.

The leading Republican papers in every direction, in the interest of Mr. Chase are beginning to speak out plainly. They speak the honest sentiments of the "negro suffrage" wing of the party. The Philadelphia Morning Post of Saturday last pitches into Grant and the Grant Republicans in good style, as follows:

"Montgomery Blair, one of the ablest and best informed renegades in the country, declares that "Grant has hitherto denounced negro suffrage and the destructive policy of which it is the cardinal feature." He claims him as a Democrat; he believes that Grant will not accept a Radical nomination. How is it that Republicans dare to nominate Grant when this assertion can be openly made by the Democratic leaders? It has been made before, and Grant has not contradicted it, and he probably will not contradict it now. So far as the people of this country know, Gen. Grant has not said one open honest word for the Republican party. His friends tell us that his principles are found in his actions, and the Democrats affirm that by his actions he shows himself their friend. No Republican dares to say that Grant has frankly pledged himself to support negro suffrage; but Montgomery Blair does say that he has denounced it. We do not hesitate to declare, what men of all parties believe, that the mystery in which Gen. Grant delights to shroud his opinions is not creditable to himself, and not complimentary to his countrymen. Whatever his opinions may be they are all imparted in confidence, with the doors locked, and under the pledge of absolute secrecy. But if he has a belief, why should he not utter it? If he believes that Impartial Suffrage is right, now is the time to say so, when the Republican party in 13 States goes to the polls with that for the main issue. His name is quoted against Impartial Suffrage in New York, and he permits our enemies to use his fame as a soldier. General Grant is doing the Republican party no service by his silence in this crisis.

We do not believe in Radicalism that is dumb. We promise the premature President makers who have failed so signally in their attempt to pledge Philadelphia to a man who won't speak, that Grant's refusal to declare himself a Republican in 1867 will kill him as the Republican candidate, in 1868. He must speak for us now, in our hour of trial and defeat, now when the Democratic party threatens to sweep the North, or he need not come before our Convention to ask us to make him President. Fitz John Porter was dismissed from the United States in disgrace because, when the Union troops were hopelessly fighting against overwhelming odds, he stood aloof with his corps and permitted our defeat. The Republican party is fighting a greater battle, and if General Grant lags now in the rear, when the danger is at the front, he will not share the glory of the victory which, with God's help, we shall win."

☞The negro spirit was well evinced in Richmond, when a body of them ordered two of the white merchants out of the city on the peril of their lives. And this banishment of two business men and good citizens for the reason that they were outspoken in opposition to their ticket. And yet the Radicals will have this barbarous element to take a part in making our laws. A negro is an easily-persuaded creature. Such Radicals as Hunnicutt know it, and they are governed accordingly in their course toward them. It was Hunnicutt's teaching, that led the negroes in Richmond to ostracise the two merchants, and it is his teachings that is continually working up the negroes to a lasting hatred of the whites. The Southern whites cannot help but see it, and they cannot help but prepare for it. We dread the consequences of such teachings and such preparation. No white man, whether Union or rebel, can live peacefully where the negroes are so impressed; for the negroes know no rebels nor no Union men. They will know white men, and they will know them only to hate them. The white men will not submit to this way of living. The more peaceably disposed will leave, while there will be others who will retaliate; and then will commence a reign of terror unparalleled in the barbaric ages. There are those in the North who echoed the praise awarded to Congress for giving the negroes the right to vote. Have they seen by this time how ruinous is becoming that policy, not only to the welfare of the negro, but also to the peace and prosperity of the nation?

New York Election.—The election takes place to-day, Tuesday. A New York dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial says:

"The Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Tilden's, usually short face is elongated sufficiently to adorn Harper. I have just conversed with the lugubrious gentlemen. His State Convention refused to indorse the President. His organ, the World, repudiated the President and the Pendleton greenback question. Thus arrayed, they went into the fight, but finding themselves soon after short of funds, they opened negotiations with the President, who, in return, sent a commissioner to treat with them. Their terms were that, if he would suspend all Republican Collectors and Assessors in New York they would tolerate him for the present. He treated the demand with contempt. They then sent Mr. Pierce, of Brooklyn, to get the Administration to wink at frauds sufficient to pay the St. Nicholas Hotel headquarters bill. Pierce came back with a flea in his ear. Thus we have a split between the President and the New York Democracy, and between the Democrats of New York and the West. I bet my money on the Republicans."

☞John A. Andrew, Ex-Governor of Massachusetts, died at Boston at six o'clock on the evening of October 30th, of apoplexy.

The Impeachment.

It seems that the President cannot be suspended from office while on trial for impeachment. Mr. Stevens, the original promotor of the impeachment and of the suspension, overlooked a Congressional precedent in 1787, which governs his case and estops the end desired by him. The Convention which framed the Constitution in 1787, settled this point in their discussion, which is thus reported in President Madison's report of the debates:

IN CONVENTION.

FRIDAY, Sept. 14, 1787.

Mr. Rutledge and Mr. Gouvernur Morris moved "That persons impeached be suspended from their Offices until they be tried and acquitted."

Mr. Madison.—"The President is made too dependent already on the Legislature by the power of one branch to try him in consequence of an impeachment by the other. This intermediate suspension will put him in the power of one branch only. They can at any moment, in order to make way for the function of another who will be more favorable to their views, vote a temporary removal of the existing magistrate."

Mr. King concurred in the opposition to the amendment.

On the question to agree to it:—

AYE—Connecticut, South Carolina, Georgia—3.

NO—New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina—8.

So the proposed amendment was rejected.

The very motion which Mr. Stevens wishes to have succeed, was thus voted down in the Convention which made the Constitution by eight States against three—thus substantially prohibiting suspension in the estate named; for what the Convention decided against, is as weighty to our judgment as what it decided for, is binding upon our conduct. Mr. Madison denies to Congress the power of suspension. If the at tempt, therefore, is made in the case of Mr. Johnson, he may carry the matter up to the Supreme Court, which can hardly fail to decide for him. Thus, there seems really no method of reaching the President save by the impeachment, trial and condemnation provided in the Constitution; anything short will fail. The Constitution forbids its use. So, we are now once more in a quandary. The friends of the President have found a shield broad enough to cover them. How will his foes penetrate the buckler?

Douglas and Lincoln on Negro Suffrage.

In one of the last speeches he ever delivered, Stephen A. Douglas declared:

"I hold that this government was made on the white basis, by white men, for the benefit of the white men, and their posterity for ever, and should be administered by white men, and none others. I do not believe that the Almighty made the negro capable of self-government."

In a speech delivered at Charleston, Illinois, on the 18th of September, 1858, during the great debate with Douglas, Abraham Lincoln said:

"I will say that I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, or qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I will say in addition to this, that there is a physical difference between the white and black races living together on terms of social and political equality. * * * * I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race."

☞The Prohibitory Liquor Law of Maine and Massachusetts has been so rigidly enforced of late that it has greatly reduced the liquor traffic in those States. The State Constable of Maine, the officer who is charged with the enforcement of the prohibitory law in that State, recently said in a public address, that this year, since April, only $200,000 worth of liquor has been purchased of New York and Boston wholesale dealers, in place of the $1,500,000 worth usually obtained in previous years; that at Belfast, Me., where $75,000 worth was the annual sale, none has been sold for the past six months; that the total expense of the constabulary of twenty-five men thus far has been $8000, and the savings to the State of $6,000,000, which would otherwise have been expended for liquor.

A correspondent sums up thus succinctly the situation of affairs in Turkey: The Turks are at their wits end. Amnesty does no good. Their troops are demoralized and unable to take the field. Russia says decidedly—cede Crete to Greece or take the consequences. France and other Continental powers say: Appoint a mixed Commission to consult the people, or hope for no sympathy from us. Greece is burning to declare war. England says I am neutral. I sympathize, but take care what you do or you will get into trouble. The Cretans themselves seem more determined than ever to accept nothing but annexation to Greece; and if one were to venture a prophecy under certain circumstances, he would probably predict final attainment to this end.

The Iowa Voter gives the following singular incident: "About 8 o'clock on Friday evening last, two common screech owls flew into the room where a Mrs. Shope was dying of consumption, and perched on the head of her bed. Attempts were made by persons present to drive them out of the room; but they would not go until Mr. Shope caught them and took them out. The woman died an hour afterwards.

A New Yorker has invented a little attachment to a carriage by which, in case the horses run away, the traces may be loosened, and the frightened animals may run as hard as they please, while the carriage will be left behind in safety. The device is said to be so simple that it is a marvel that it was not previously discovered.

Fast time is sometimes made on American railroads, and much faster time than passengers will generally feel comfortable under, considering the style of some of the American roads. It is reported that ten miles in eight minutes was made between Buffalo and Hamburg the other day by a director's train on the New York Central Railroad—seventy-eight miles an hour.

The Virginia Election.

[Correspondence of the New York World.]

RICHMOND, Va., October 26.

Of the results of the military election, or rather farce, which took place in this State on Tuesday last, the telegraph has doubtless informed you, but there are some facts concerning the matter that have not been made public. Respecting the character of the men elected to the convention, and the frauds perpetrated by the Radical leagues, aided and abetted by military authority, the decent, sensible people of the State are justly indignant, but they are powerless to resent the outrage and must stand idly by and see their rights and liberties jeopardized by the corrupt men in power. But for the facts: In the first place, with a clear white majority of thirteen thousand votes, the State was so gerrymandered that the negroes were enabled to elect fifty-six delegates and the whites only forty-three, when it should have been the reverse, fifty-six white Conservatives to forty-three negro Radicals. With this result, and with the glorious victories achieved by the Democratic party at the North in view, we were encouraged in the hope that if we could vote down a convention, Congress might conclude to no farther humiliate the people of the State. And this would have been the case had a fair election been allowed us: but the machinery of the Leagues was working too effectually to permit this, and the result is that a convention has been ordered and delegates elected that would, in nine cases out of ten, disgrace the walls of a penitentiary. The negroes had been drilled so well, and were in such dread of their mean white managers, that they voted almost unanimously for the nominees of the Radical party, no matter who were their opponents. And not only this, but by violence and threats they prevented the blacks that desired to do so, from voting the Conservative ticket. In Albemarle county, one of the richest and most populous counties in the State, Judge Alexander Rives, who has been a Republican all his life, before, during, and since the war, a man of intelligence, wealth, and position in society—did not receive a dozen negro votes; but a man named Thompson, from your State, who was publicly denounced as totally unworthy by a United States officer, and a negro named Taylor, were elected almost unanimously over him. A similar case occurred in Henrico, where Mr. Franklin Stearns was the candidate, nominated by Republicans, whose unionism no one doubts, and who was beaten by a man whom no one knew, but who was the nominee of the negroes, and, whose only claim to their suffrage was that he hid in the swamps during the war, and because he was a member of the League and their president. In Mecklenburg county a negro who can not read or write, and who has been convicted five times in the courts for stealing, was elected over a respectable Union man. All over the eastern portion of the State the same results have been secured; but the above will give you a sample of how Virginia and Virginians are to be governed in the future. The candidates for this city consist of the notorious Hunnicutt, the corrupt and detestable Underwood, an Irishman named Morrissey, a disgrace to his gallant countrymen, and two negroes. These men received only fifty white votes in the whole city, and were denounced publicly by some of their own gang as scoundrels and perjurers. The respectable northern men among us did not and would not vote for them. They were elected by fraud, as the card from Mr. Gilmer to General Schofield abundantly shows. The president of the Registration Board, one Rose (by no means a sweet one), on the last day of the election said he "did'nt care a d—n for all the white people in Richmond." Some of his friends had bet on a Radical majority of so much, and he intended they should win.

Negro Vigilance Committee.

Facts have recently come to light showing that the Radical leaders, not satisfied with having everything their own way at the polls, have actually gone so far as to influence if not assist in the formation of a negro vigilance committee for the purpose of intimidating and threatening white people. Here are some of the facts:—A respectable, hard working man, named Monroe, originally from the State of Maine, had the boldness to denounce Hunnicutt and his gang, and this is the result. He is ordered to pack up and leave the city, and if he chooses he may take his family. Your correspondent knows Mr. Monroe, and he is a quiet, industrious, and honest citizen, esteemed by all his acquaintances, and he has the nerve to defy the black apes although they are led on by some of the meanest whites that ever disgraced humanity. Mr. Newdecker, who carries on a large tobacco manufactory, also received a note from the vigilance committee, to leave the city because he had the temerity to discharge some of his lazy, impudent negroes who would not work themselves nor allow others to do so. The following is the order of the negro vigilance committee sent to several of our leading citizens:—

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 25, 1867.

We the colored people of the city of Richmond, having formed a vigilance committee, warn you to leave the city in forty-eight hours after receiving this notice. We are aware of your hostile feeling towards M. Hunnicutt and his political party. If your family choose to go with you they can do so; we will not interfere with them. If you do not heed this warning you will have to abide by the consequences. After you have spoken of M. Hunnicutt as you have, we are fully determined that you shall leave the city at the expiration of the time given you.

"By order of the committee.

"T. B. G., Secretary."

A number of the Radicals were detected tearing up Conservative tickets on election day, and several were arrested for riotous conduct. They were tried to-day by military commission, and bound over to keep the peace—punishment only in name.

Advices from Porto Rico to the 16th are received. A severe hurricane was experienced in that island on the 13th inst., during which a number of coasting vessels were lost, and others seriously damaged, and the rivers overflowed, causing inundations at various points, with considerable damage to property.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1, 1867.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

From the creation of the world, in all ages and climes, it has been customary to set apart certain days for special religious observance. This has not always been influenced by the light of Christian knowledge, nor by any proper conception of the character of that Great Being "who ruleth the earth in righteousness," and "who daily loadeth us with his benefits:" but by an innate sense of the existence of an overruling Power, by which all the world and all it contains are governed and controlled. Aided by the dictates of cultivated reason and the teachings of Divine revelation, we, however, are taught to recognize in that Supreme Ruler a Heavenly Father, to whom we are indebted for existence and all the blessings we enjoy, and to whom we owe constant and fervent thanksgiving and praise. It is He who "visiteth the earth and watereth it;" who "setteth the furrows and blesseth the springings thereof;" who "crowneth the year with His goodness, and whose paths drop fatness;" who "closeth the pastures with flocks, and covereth the valleys with corn;" who "maketh the out goings of the morning and of the evening to rejoice;" who "is our refuge and strength;" who "maketh wars to cease," and "saveth us from our enemies;" and whose throne is forever and ever," and who "blesseth the nations whose God is the Lord."

On all sides we have increased assurances of the "loving kindness" of an All-wise Parent of Good, who has conducted our nation through a long and terrible war, and permitted our people to repose once more in safety, "without any to molest them or to make them afraid." The monstrous sentiment of disunion is no longer tolerated. The flag, the Union, and the Constitution are esteemed as the safeguards of the rights and liberties of the people, and are revered and defended as the ark of their political safety.

A kind Providence has not grown weary of supplying our continuous wants; a bounteous harvest has rewarded the labors of the husbandman; flocks and herds are scattered in countless number over our valleys and hills; commerce is uninterrupted, and vessels laden with the products of nature and of art speed unmolested over the trackless deeps. Neither pestilence, famine, political or social evils, financial embarrassments of commercial distress, have been permitted to stay the progress and happiness of the people of this great Commonwealth; but peace, health, education, morality, religion, social improvement and refinement, with their attendant blessings, have filled the cup of comfort and enjoyment to overflowing.

Recognizing our responsibility to Him who controls the destinies of nations as well as of individuals, and "from whom cometh down every good and perfect gift," to whom we are deeply indebted for all these and the richer blessings of our common Christianity, let us unitedly give our most devout gratitude and hearty thanksgiving:—I therefore, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of November next, be set apart as a day of praise and thanksgiving; that all secular and worldly business be suspended, and the people assemble in their various places of worship to acknowledge their gratitude and offer up prayers for a continuance of Divine favor.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Harrisburgh, this thirty first day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-second.

While sinking a well in Fayette co., Iowa, Captain Appleton came upon the top branches of a buried forest, 12 feet below the surface. The trees were erect. What next will turn up?

The builders of the Pacific Railroad are now in sight of the Rocky Mountains, and will in a few days reach the new city of Cheyenne, where real estate speculation is running high, corner lots selling at $500 and upward.

As an indication of the terrible violence of the yellow fever epidemic in New Orleans, it is stated that sixty thousand persons have been attacked with the disease during the past summer, of which nearly one-tenth died.

There have been in all eighteen deaths from cholera on the receiving ship Potomac, lying at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. The disease is believed to have received an effectual check.

The French aristocracy are reviving hunting. It is becoming more and more the fashion to keep hounds for hunting parties, to which ladies are invited. In the day of the older Bourbons France was dotted all over with hunting retreats.

A State fair is a queen; an agricultural fair is a farmer's daughter; a church fair is a parson's wife; a soldier's fair is the best looking girl he can get hold of; a charity fair is a female pauper; and the most unpopular fare in the world is boarding-house fare.

Overcoats to the knees, very tight pants, like those worn thirty years ago, and silk hats, with low crowns and broad brims; such are men's fashions for the coming season. The ladies who wear waterfalls have a consolation that some of the gentlemen's styles are as ridiculous as theirs.

The Cincinnati Gazette, whose chief editor is a defeated Radical candidate for Congress, says: "No one need deny that there is a reaction against the Radical policy of making black States in the South." This is a sage conclusion, but he ought to know from sad experience.

The Evansville (Ind.) Journal learns that the breadth of land sown to wheat this fall in that part of the State is unusually large, in consequence of the very favorable weather for sowing.—It is an old adage among farmers that to insure good crops you must "sow your wheat in dust, and your oats in mud." This season, there can be no doubt, has been favorable for carrying out the maxim.

It is needed in every family where the Bible is read, as well as by every Sabbath School teacher, student and clergyman, and being the only book on the subject ever published or sold in this country, agents can easily see the advantage of canvassing for this work. COLONEL FORNEY'S LETTERS FROM EUROPE.

LETTERS FROM EUROPE.

BY JOHN W. FORNEY,

Editor of the "Philadelphia Press" and "Washington Chronicle," and Secretary of the Senate of the United States.

Since the commencement of the publication of Colonel Forney's Letters from Europe in the Philadelphia Daily and Weekly Press, the publisher of these papers has been in the receipt of innumerable inquiries from those who wished to know if the correspondence would not appear in book form. In accordance with their requests, we will now state that these letters, carefully revised and rewritten, with important additions, are now in press, and will shortly be given to the world, in a large duodecimo volume of 400 pages, by the publishing house of T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, who are sparing no expense to make of it a book which shall combine every feature of typographical excellence characteristic of the best publications of this firm. It will contain an excellent steel portrait of the author, engraved in the finest style of the art, by one of the best artists in the country, and it will be in every respect a work acceptable to the numerous friends of Colonel Forney. The correspondence gives the author's impressions of various countries which he visited during an European tour of several months, with observations upon society, politics, amusements, manufactures, educational and religious institutions, in England, France, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, and Holland. The variety of these letters may be judged from the fact that they were written from London, Liverpool, Oxford, Windsor, Halifax, Stratford-upon-Avon, Chester, Paris, Berne, Lake Leman, Baden-Baden, Heidelberg, Wiesbaden, On the Rhine, Coblentz, Brussels, Antwerp, the Hague, and various other places on the Continent of Europe.

The work will be published in one large duodecimo volume of over 500 pages, printed on the finest paper, and handsomely bound in cloth. Price, Two Dollars.

Booksellers, news agents, canvassers, and all others, are solicited to order at once what they may want of the above book, so that their orders can be filled out of the first edition. Address all orders, wholesale and retail, to the Publishers of it,

T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS,
306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

And they will receive immediate attention.

Sample copies of Colonel Forney's Letters from Europe will be sent to any one, to any place, in advance of the day of publication, postage paid, on receipt of the retail price of the work.

WANTED.—AGENTS and CANVASSERS are wanted in every county, town, and village in the United States and Canadas, to engage in getting up a list of subscribers to the above work. no6-4t

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

Local Advertisements.

Advertisements (puffs or notices) published in local columns at ten cents a line single insertion, counting seven words to a line. tf.

To Subscribers.

Those subscribing for three, six or twelve months with the understanding that the paper be discontinued unless subscription is renewed, receiving a paper marked with a † before the name will understand that the time for which they subscribed is up. If they wish the paper continued they will renew their subscription through the mail or otherwise. tf.

Brief Items.

—The Milnwood Academy, situated in Shade Gap, this county, Rev. R. S. Kuhn, Principal, opens to day.

—Read the advertisement headed "Colonel Forney's Letters from Europe."

—Mr. Martin, the ticket agent of this place, has removed to Westchester, and his place has been filled by Mr. David McCahan.

—The farmers are busy husking and taking in their corn. The weather has been very favorable. The corn crop is good.

—Lieut. John W. Hicks, of Blair county, died at Natchez, Miss., of cholera, on the 22d ult. He was a lieutenant in the regular army.

—Pennsylvania takes the lead of the other States in the production of rye, nearly one third of the product of the whole country, and in buckwheat over forty-two per cent.

—The canal boat "Mississippi," owned by Captain Shepley, of Lewistown, laded with 73 tons of coal, struck a stone, about a mile east of that place, and immediately sunk.

—Hollidaysburg has now a town clock. The people of that town generally do what they say they will do, without letting it die in talk—an example Huntingdon would do well to follow.

—Two colored brothers in Lewistown named Joseph and Charley Griffith, had a set to in an oyster saloon, in which Joe, with a razor, cut a gash in Charley's face from the ear to the chin. Charley is in a critical condition, while his brother has fled.

—The boys were on hand on Hallow-e'en, as we expected. We never have seen them turn out in such a body as they did on Thursday night.—Our business men were greatly disturbed by their pranks.

—We hear that since we published the directions for handkerchief flirtation, some of the ladies have made it a study. Persevere, girls, as practice makes perfect, and it is just as good a way to catch a beau as ribbons or any other frippery we know of.

—The Morrison House of this place, formerly kept by Joseph Morrison, will hereafter be conducted by Messrs. Tate & Hildebrand. Mr. Tate was the former Steward of the County Poor House, and Mr. Hildebrand is a resident of this place, who has had some experience about a hotel.

—Demetrius Augustine Conrad, familiarly known as "Little X," died at Ebensburg on the 29th ult. He was a veritable dwarf in size. Though 33 years of age, he had attained the hight of only 40 inches, while his weight was 50 pounds. He was well known to some of our citizens.

—On the 31st of October last, the Lutheran Church was 350 years old. On that day in 1517, Luther nailed his ninety-five theses on the door of the church at Wirtemberg, which was the beginning of the reformation. The Lutheran Church of this place celebrated the seventh jubilee (of fifty years each) in an appropriate manner on Thursday last.

—John Middleton, of Clearfield co., was found dead in his bed, at the Golden Horse Hotel, in Gaysport, Blair county, on Thursday last. A post mortem examination was held by the coroner, the report of which was that he died from suffocation resulting in asphyxia, and caused by lying on his face during convulsions. He had been engaged while in Gaysport, in repairing a flouring mill.

—There are many persons who either take no paper at all, or else take one from a distant city, and when they wish to see what is transpiring in their own neighborhood, they beg or steal the local paper from some citizen more liberal than themselves. Many men of this kind are engaged in business, and frequently grumble because people do not patronize "home industry," when they practice the very thing of which they complain.

—We have received the first number of the Temperance Vindicator, published at Williamsburg, Blair county, by Dr. James P. Thompson. It is full of temperance information, and presents a good variety of other reading matter, making it well worth the price, which is only $2 a year. We admire the determination of the editor, not to give up; but we hope he will meet with such success as to drive away any fear of a failure.

—We have heard an incident which is too good to keep: The other day, a shrewd little fellow, living in town, started from home, telling his mother that he was going a-fishing. He forthwith wended his way to Col. Summers' Garden, where a large glass aquarium is located, filled with gold and other fishes. The little fellow eyed their sportings for a while, and thinking it was a good chance for a bite, baited his book, and threw it in to catch one. The fish were making for the morsel, when luckily the Colonel came to the door and called to the boy, and ordered him off, when the little fisherman, all intent on his game, innocently replied: "Oh, just wait, there's one that's going to bite." The Colonel, thus taken down, could say nothing more for laughing at the boy's cuteness.

The Broad Top Railroad.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Daily News writing from Broad Top, says:

"What the road most needs now is industry and economy on the part of its employees, and adds, that in the present superintendent, Mr McKillips, it fortunately has both. This gentleman does not idle his time at Huntingdon superintending the arrival and departure of trains, but is almost constantly on the road, looking after them, and is well assisted by the general agent, Mr. Jacobs.' The correspondent further says: 'The average shipments over the road for the last three months have been about twenty thousand tons a month, the gross earnings for the quarter being $52,696, and the expenses $25,365, showing a profit of $27,381.' The figures given do not show any increase of receipts, but the expenses as compared with a quarter year in 1866 are greatly reduced. The whole expenses for 'motive power,' 'maintenance of way,' and 'maintonance of cars,' 'conducting transportation' and 'mining,' in 1866, were $188,-415 98, which left the net earnings of the year but $35,745 16."

☞It is currently reported that everybody, all their relations and the rest of mankind will be in town to see Gardner, Hemmings, & Co's. circus on Thursday. It is also asserted that the country people having heard of the reduction of ten per cent. in goods at Johnston's & Wattson's cheap store, intend while in town attending the show, to take advantage of the great reduction, and lay in a winter's stock of Dry Goods, Groceries, Queensware, Hats and Caps, &c, &c. Come along, ladies and gentlemen, you will find their shelves well filled with the best of everything in their line, and ten per cent. cheaper than the cheapest. †

The Huntingdon Presbytery,

Has made the following deliverance upon the subject of Temperance:

WHEREAS, The drinking customs of society, and the traffic in intoxicating drinks as a beverage, together with the combined influence promoting intemperance, now present some of the strongest barriers in the way of the sanctity of the Sabbath, the progress of the Gospel and true religion, therefore,

Resolved, That we hail with great pleasure the formation of the Pennsylvania State Temperance Union as a combination of all Christian churches and temperance organizations, while leaving each to labor in its favorite method.

Resolved, That we heartily co-operate with the Corresponding Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Temperance Union, the Rev. Mr. Chenowith, as far as practicable, in our respective charges, and that we cordially recommend him to our people in the prosecution of his important work.

Cider.

To preserve sweet, use Spear's Preserving Solution as per directions on bottle—this Solution will prevent fermentation, or stop fermentation in cider at any desired flavor. Sold at Lewis' Grocery.

☞Of all amusements that can possibly be imagined for a working man, after a day's toil, or in the intervals, there is nothing like reading a newspaper or a book. It calls for no bodily exertion, of which the man has had enough—perhaps too much. It relieves his home of dullness and sameness. Nay, it accompanies him to his next day's work, and gives him some thing to think of besides the mechanical drudgery of his every day occupation—something he can enjoy while absent, and look forward to with pleasure.

☞Farmers consult your interests. Purchase your goods at the Mammoth Store of Henry & Co., who have the largest, best selected stock of goods in town, which they offer at prices which defy competition. Call and examine their goods before purchasing elsewhere, as they are determined not to be undersold.

The Age of Improvement.

Our oldest inhabitants can recollect very well, when all the merchandise bought and sold in our town, was brought through from the east in wagons; and still more recently the mode of transportation has been by boats. But now goods can be delivered here in ten hours, after being bought in Philadelphia. By the old method of transportation it would take a continuous line of wagons, running between this place and Philadelphia to supply the Wholesale and Retail Store of Cunningham & Carmon, as they now sell vastly more than was formerly sold by all the stores in this place. They are now selling goods as cheap as before the war. †

Dreadful Fatality.

A correspondent furnishes us with the following information: On Sept. 26th, MARTHA, aged 11 years, daughter of Elias and Mary Fraker, residing near Burnt Cabins, at the lower end of this county, died of diptheria. On Oct. 4th, only eight days after, WALKER, aged 5 years, died of the same disease. On Oct. 25th, twenty-one days after the son's death, SARAH, aged 21 years, another daughter of the same parents, died of the same disease; and on Nov. 1st, last, seven days after, DANIEL, aged 18 years, fell a victim to the same disease.

We have seldom to record such rapidly succeeding deaths in one family. In this instance four of Mr. Fraker's children died in the course of one month, that fatal disease, diptheria, taking in its grasp, the youngest and the oldest. Only the afflicted ones, can fully realize the extent of their loss. It is a painful evidence of the power of the grim monster Death. The afflicted family is deserving of the sympathy of the entire community.

☞Those persons who are afraid to be subscribers to the Globe, and borrow from their neighbors, are sneaks.

Thirteen Months in a Year.

The American Agriculturist for November has reached us, and as usual it is full of good things. The present number dates from the new office, 245 Broadway, and in addition to its many other beautiful engravings, contains a full page cut giving a front view of the new quarters. The increased business of the Agriculturist has required new partners, and an enlarged working force, and now its necessities demand enlarged room. In the description of the store now occupied we are told that it is five stories in height; it has a front of 25 feet on Broadway, a depth of 114½ feet, with an L projection, which gives a wide entrance on Murray st., with a spacious basement extending under the whole. The front portion of the main floor is occupied as a sales-room for a large stock of Agricultural and Horticultural books. Farther to the rear are the subscription and other business desks, while the basement is devoted to the important work of folding and mailing the paper. The printers' room, engravers' room, and editorial "sanctum" are on an upper floor.

The cost of the American Agriculturist is only $1,50 for a year, in advance, or four copies for $5. It contains 32 to 40 large quarto pages, and is beautifully illustrated. The publishers offer for the December number of that valuable paper free of charge to all new subscribers for 1868, (Vol. 27), who send in their subscriptions during this month of November. It will be the best kind of an investment. Subscriptions should be sent to the publishers, Orange Judd & Co., 245 Broadway, New York City.

☞Henry & Co. are still receiving goods at the late decline. Call and see them. †

Temperance Meeting.

At the meeting of the Huntingdon County Temperance Union, in August last, the following was adopted:

Resolved, That when we adjourn, we adjourn to meet on Monday night of the first week of November Court, in this place, and that the Secretary with the other officers and managers of the Society, unite in the call for a MASS MEETING, at that time, and that they select speakers for the occasion.

In accordance with the above resolution every church, seminary, Sabbath school, township union, temperance society or lodge, in the county, is requested to select delegates not to exceed ten in number, to represent them in said Convention, Monday evening, November 11th. Let there be a full attendance, as there will be business of great importance before the Convention, relating to the more perfect organization of the Union in this county.

By order of the Society.

B. M. GREENE, Rec. Sec'y.

A Bee.

The Langstroth Patent Bee-Hive, which is already becoming very popular in this neck o' timber, can be seen at the Court House, during the first week of November Court. All persons desirous of purchasing borough or township rights in this profitable Bee-Hive, will have a chance to do so at that time. 3t.

The Best Thing Yet.

We have recently had sufficient evidence of the excellence of Mr. Speer's Port Grape Wine, which not only convinces us that all we can say in its praise is deserved, but that we are really conferring a favor on our readers in advising them to use it. The wine is a pure grape wine, entirely unmixed, and the most agreeable and delicious in flavor of any ever tasted. Of its medicinal qualities, we entertain the very highest opinion, and upon the evidence of our own observations. Three bottles of this wine have nearly effected a perfect cure in the case of our little boy, who has been 7 years afflicted with incontinence of the urine. A great number of remedies have been tried without benefit, and the most eminent physicians consulted with a like result. Speer's Port Grape Wine is effecting a cure. We have given this testimony without the knowledge of Mr. Speer, in the hope that others may be induced to try the virtues of this wine.—Mr. Pangborn, Editor of Jersey City Times.

Fires.

Neighboring counties have been scourged with fires the past week. In Bedford the roof of the residence of widow Anderson was burned. Loss not ascertained, but thought to be more on the furniture than the building.

Four conflagrations occurred in Ebensburg in three days last week, three of them within fourteen hours of each other. Two dwellings were burned, and three stables. Two barns several miles north of the town were destroyed by fire the same week.

On Sunday last a fire broke out in Altoona, in which five or six business houses and one or two stables in a central portion of the town were destroyed.

Worth Seeing.

Mr. Nelson Ball of this place, has just finished at his shop, a Spring Wagon, said to be by good judges the best piece of work they ever saw. The wagon is for A. B. Shenefelt, and is worth seeing.

Great Decline.

Read new advertisement of Glazier & Bro. Their goods and prices are warranted to be as represented. Persons desiring bargains should give them a call. 3t. †

☞Honest weights and measures are due to the public, and, in the long run, most profitable to the dealer. Fairbanks' Standard Scales are quoted in Courts of Justice, as furnishing reliable testimony in disputed weight. In addition to giving these scales the highest premium at the Great Paris Exposition, the committee mention them in their award as the Standard Scales.

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE?—A gentleman doing business in Boston, while traveling in the cars a short time ago, took a copy of the London Punch with which to relieve the monotony of a tedious journey; and having finished reading its well stocked columns of "fact, fun and fancy," took to reading the advertisements. At last, in a remote corner, he discovered an announcement, about half an inch in length, which told him where an article that he dealt largely in could be procured in England, and being one of the shrewd, sharp kind of men, he wrote the parties for a price list, the result of which was that he sent them an order amounting to several hundred pounds sterling, and during the year his partner, visiting Europe, left another large order, and they continue good customers. All this was the result of a half-inch advertisement. Who will say that it does not pay to advertise?

That's So.

AN IMPROVEMENT IN LIGHT!

We take pleasure in putting before the public a LAMP for burning fat, lard or tallow, which is superior to any of the kind ever introduced. It differs from all others, as it does not require the fat to be melted before lighting. It heats the fat by a copper pipe, which conducts the heat under the fat and melts it immediately.

Thousands of the lamps have been sold and no complaints have been made. All Lamps warranted to give general satisfaction, or the money refunded.

A rare opportunity is offered to any person or persons that may wish to engage in the business. Huntingdon and Mifflin counties will be sold in townships at reasonable terms to suit purchasers. A sample lamp will be forwarded to any person on receipt of retail price, $1,50, and forwarded at my expense.

Will either sell territory or pay agents by the day or piece. Agents are making from $5 to $15 per day, for they sell very fast. They are what every person needs. All letters will receive prompt attention.

CALL AND SEE.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

BEALE'S

Late Powell's Embrocation,

For all Diseases Incident to HORSES, CATTLE, and the HUMAN FLESH, Requiring the use of an External Application.

This new Compound, prepared by a practical Chemist having a full knowledge of all the medical virtues of each ingredient that enters into its composition, is warranted to exceed anything of the kind ever yet offered to the Public as an external application for the diseases for which it is recommended. We are satisfied that it will work its own road into the confidence of all who use it, and those who try it once will never be without it, and therefore we rely on experience as the best test of its usefulness. It is pronounced by Farriers, and all who have tried it to be the best application ever used. This Embrocation has been put up for over eight years, and it is only through the increasing demand and urgent request of my friends and the Public that I send it forth as the grand remedial agent for the various diseases to which that noble and useful animal, the horse, is subject.

Many remedies have been offered to the Public under different forms, some of these are injurious, others at best of little use, and many wholly improper to answer the purposes for which they are recommended.

A judicious and really useful composition, free from those objections, has therefore long been desired by many gentlemen who have valuable horses, and are unwilling to trust them to the care of designing and pretended Farriers. Their wishes are at length fully gratified, by Dr. Beale being prevailed upon to allow this valuable Embrocation (which has proved so efficacious to the various diseases) to be prepared and brought out to the public.

This Embrocation was extensively used by the Government during the war.

SPEAR'S PATENT

Fruit Preserving Solution,

FOR THE PRESERVATION OF ALL KINDS OF

FRUITS, VEGETABLES, JELLIES, WINES, CIDER, &c

Without Sugar, and without Expensive Sealing or Air-tight Jars.

One Bottle will Preserve 128 Pounds of Fruit, or 48 Gallons of Wine or Cider.

CHEAP, HEALTHFUL AND EFFECTUAL.

This Solution, when properly used, effectually prevents fermentation or decay of Fruits, and, by the most simple and inexpensive process every variety may be kept in a fresh and perfectly wholesome condition the year round. It is no new and uncertain experiment, but has been in practical use for the past eight years; yet has been, for the most part, kept from the public for the purpose of ascertaining the result of a series of experiments, all of which have proved the validity of all that is now confidently claimed for it.

Fruits preserved by this Solution are as good as the best "canned" fruits, while the use of the solution avoids the trouble of sealing, costly jars or cans, keeping from the air and light; frequent examinations, and the many other troubles and annoyances well known to every housewife.

Fresh native fruits the year round have become almost a household necessity, both on account of their healthfulness and as a luxury; and by the use of this solution this great luxury is within the reach of every family, rich or poor, in the land, as all kinds of fruit may be preserved, during pleasure at less than one-half the expense of any other method.

The solution is perfectly free from objection on the score of health. Professor Bache, under date "U. S. Naval Laboratory, New York, September 14, 1865," says: "By direction of the Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, I have examined your Preserving Solution, and meats and fruits preserved by it. I have a high opinion of its value, and believe it can be used in the preservation of those articles in a fresh state for the army and navy very advantageously. The Solution is perfectly free from objection on the score of healthfulness."

Other certificates from distinguished chemists, confirming the above, can be seen and had where the solution is sold. It is claimed:

1. That Spear's Solution preserves the flavor of all kinds of native fruits more perfectly and durably than can be done in any other way, and at much less trouble and expense;

2. That the use of the Solution renders it unnecessary to use air tight or expensive jars or cans, and also avoids the inconvenience of hermetically sealing and keeping from the air, heat, light, etc.;

3. That the use of the Solution admits of the keeping of the fruit in vessels of any size, even in kegs or barrels if desirable;

4. That the use of the Solution allows the shipment of the fruit by salt or fresh water, in the hottest weather without danger of loss or injury;

5. That it is invaluable in the preserving of Tomato, Peach, Pear, Apple, Quince and other Sauces, Wines and Cider; also for all kinds of Spiced Fruits; that these alone recommend it to every family, and to use it once will guarantee their approval.

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST ARTICLE OUT.

A PERFECT TIME-PIECE FOR ONE DOLLAR.

Let every Housekeeper, Farmer, Mechanic, and Traveler buy our or Perpetual Portable Sun-Dial.

Warranted to keep True Time for every Day of the Year.

This valuable instrument, which is warranted by us to give the true time of day throughout the year, is constructed on strictly scientific principles, being based on astronomical tables and calculations, and affording the truest measure of time which human ingenuity and skill can devise, exceeding in accuracy and reliability the most perfect chronometers, whilst the low price at which we offer it to the public places it within the reach of all. Its portability makes it convenient for travelers, and to every farmer or householder it must prove invaluable to regulate their clocks and watches by the most infallible test recognized by science.

The mode of using the "Solar Watch" is the simplest that can be devised. After screwing the Style or Gnomon in its place in the moveable brass head and setting it directly over the straight line corresponding to the date, or that nearest to it on the cylinder, the instrument is placed upright in the sunshine in such a position as will throw the shadow of the Style directly upon the line under it. After placing the plumb-line by means of its brass attachment, at a right angle with and to the left of the Style, in order to set the cylinder perfectly level, the point where the extremity of the shadow falls, and its distance from any of the wavy or cross lines exhibiting the morning and corresponding afternoon hours, will indicate the true time of day.

The whole apparatus, consisting of a Cylinder and Diagram, moveable Brass Head, Style, Plumb line, and Brass attachment for the same, neatly put up in compact boxes, is sold by us at the incredibly low price of ONE DOLLAR.
